What A SPLASH!

Fun in the Sun!!

Gary Davis

Since I completed LSM I have gone through a number of milestones at a professional and personal level.

At a professional level, I was accepted for the Leadership Symposium for the YUSA. This is a program at a national level that looks at issue sour nation our facing at this present time. The topic for our year long program was “How to improve the nation’s health.” I completed me white paper on how you sports impacts childhood obesity. I have also through continual training reaching the status of Organizational Leader with the YUSA.

At a personal level, I have entered my 14th year of marriage, navigated my last two children through elementary school, and proudly guided my first child through high school. As we grow as leaders, I don’t think there can be any greater accomplishment than being leaders for your children. Being someone they inspire to be like and to approve upon. I am very proud at what she has done, and I look forward to the next step and college.

I continue to volunteer as a coach for youth sports and volunteer in my community as opportunities arise that fit into my schedule. I have just been accepted as the chair for next year’s LSM selection committee. I look forward to assist in any way I can to move the program forward.

Community Involvement:

A Little Food for thought... A group of wolves: The three in the front are old & sick, they walk in the front to set the pace of the running group lest they get left behind. The next five are the strongest & best, they are tasked to protect the front side if there is an attack. The Pack in the middle are always protected from any attack. The five behind them are also among the strongest & best; they are tasked to protect the back side if there is an attack. The last one is the LEADER. He ensures that no one is left behind. He keeps the pack unified and on the same path. He is always ready to run in any direction to protect & serves as the 'bodyguard' to the entire group. Just in case anyone wanted to know what it really means to be a leader. It's not about being out front. It means taking care of the team.
